Christmas is the loveliest festival of the year. I love hanging shiny ornaments on the big tree with my family.

We have a movie night with hot cocoa on Christmas Eve, hoping Santa is on his way.

The most exciting moment was unwrapping my presents, wondering what I got. When I finally opened them, I was so happy to see what I had wanted! I know a present is not just about having more stuff - a gift from the heart is enough.

The spirit of the season is full of love and care. We sing carols together and help make dinner for the homeless shelter. I feel so warm and fuzzy inside.
